

- 1. The first part of the text describes the importance of the research.
The author states that the research is significant because it provides a new perspective on the issue.
(The author also mentions that the research is based on a large sample size.)
- 2. The second part of the text discusses the methodology used in the study.
The author explains that the study used a quantitative approach to collect data.
(The author also mentions that the data was analyzed using statistical software.)
- 3. The third part of the text presents the results of the study.
The author reports that the results show a significant positive correlation between the variables.
(The author also mentions that the results are consistent with previous research.)
- 4. The fourth part of the text discusses the implications of the findings.
The author suggests that the findings have important implications for practice.
(The author also mentions that the findings could be used to inform policy decisions.)
- 5. The fifth part of the text concludes the study.
The author summarizes the main findings and reiterates the importance of the research.
(The author also mentions that the study has limitations and suggests areas for future research.)

7. The author states that the research is significant because it provides a new perspective on the issue.
(The author also mentions that the research is based on a large sample size.)
8. The author explains that the study used a quantitative approach to collect data.

Questions for Oral Answers